LOCAL NEWS

Prohibition officer John D. W. Collins returned from a several days stay around Lexington.

John Francis, for several days a very sick man, is now said to be confined to his home with typhoid.

J. Henry Hall was around first of the week seeing his friends and talking business.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blair, Jr. of Sunnyside, are rejoicing over the arrival of a fine son.

Pat Piersall, manager of Pat's Hotel at Blackey, was a business visitor here. He wants you to give him a call when in Blackey.

John Stidham, Blackey and Tillie merchant, was here buying goods.

Judge Childers has quite a lengthy say to the voters in this week's Eagle.

Judge Vanover came over from Pikeville to see how the election was getting along. His young son accompanied him.

How would you like to read the news of your town or neighborhood in the Eagle? If so send it in to us and we will be more than glad to print it. Write it the best you can, we will put the clothes on it before printing.

Notice—On and after Nov. 1st I will not extend credit to anyone and all who owe me will please call and settle on or before that date. J. C. Dixon

It is rumored now that an election will be held in all precincts in the county on November 8, at which time a number of county officers will be elected. Several are said to be aspiring to be elected. No one has ventured to tell us who will get the most votes, however it is believed that all will get some votes.

Grant Craft, whose ancestral path blazes back to the first settlement of this country and who aspires to hold the office of Sheriff, has a few words to say to the public in this issue.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Pendleton and their excellent family are now residents of our town.

Fall hats reduced. The Millinery Shop

Man wants but little beer, but oh, he wants that little strong. But woman, bless her little heart, wants soberness and song.

Wash Webb was a business caller from Mayking.

C. O. Horn, known by everybody here, was up from Blackey and says he may soon be a citizen of Whitesburg. A Mr. Centers was here with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Short and Miss Lelia Mullins visited the latter's home at Partridge.

Dan Frazier, of Huntington, W. Va. visited relatives on Smoot Creek and in our town. Dan is a son of the late Solomon Frazier and was reared near mouth of Smoot in our county.

Judge Mitchell was down from McRoberts. Things are as usual up there—very little work.

The beautiful weather the past few days has rejuvenated things to a marked degree and prospects are favorable for some pleasant days during the month.

John A. Webb, Main-St. merchant, spent the first few days of the week at Cincinnati and Louisville.

Brick for the new Dave Hays residence is now being put on the ground.

Dr. Jno. M. Bentley will build a nice residence on his property near Lexington. Plans and specifications were drawn by Architect W. D. Harris, of our town.

Charlie Logan, of the Letcher-Knott border, was in town first of the week looking about.

The Eagle will be engaged in ballot making for the November election in a few days and other orders for printing may be somewhat delayed.

For Sale—12 to 14 acres coal lands near Whitesburg at reasonable price. For information address W. M. Phillips, Lexington.

We want a lady or gentleman

Charlie E. Pendleton, a Letcher county product and a bright young business man, for years employed in the Hazard coal field, was here with his pretty young wife and baby.

Mrs. Nettie Gibson, of Richmond, and her mother, Mrs. T. G. Lewis, of Hyden, are expected here on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. French Hawk.

The End
Here lies the body of Jim Lake, Tread softly all who pass; He thought his foot was on the brake, But it was on the gas.

W. E. Brown is reported campaigning in the Rockhouse section.

Mullins Bros. bought the old ice plant property and will erect thereon a model bakery. J. B. and W. W. Mullins, two of our leading young business men, are promoting the enterprise, the former being now in Cincinnati purchasing the equipment. They expect to be in operation within 30 days.

Mrs. John M. Cook was thrown from a horse near her old home on Cumberland and suffered a broken arm.

E. C. Bentley is now operating the Whitesburg Laundry.

E. W. Baker's family moved to the flat over the city market.

Attorney J. Wesley Hall, of Hazard, was a business visitor here.

Merchant Wilburn Hampton, of Jeremiah, was in town.

Tom Hatcher, O. A. Stump and others interested in the coming election were here from Pikeville prospecting about.

"Las' yeah you couldn't buy nuffin' wid a dollah; now you can't git a dollah to buy nuffin' wid," said Rastus.

Beginning yesterday W. T. Fairchild started a cash bargain sale designed to eclipse anything yet put on in town. Entire stock goes at positive cost and often under. At west end of county bridge.

Do you know why people who attend to their own business usually succeed? It is because they have so little competition.

If the glowing reports we hear about some candidates are true then some candidates had as well quit. However, we are not far enough from the late primary yet to believe all we hear.

Attorney Hays is building a neat residence on his country place, the Wat Long farm.

Prohibition officers raided on Wednesday and captured 2 large stills in the upper Cumberland river section. It looks like our friends in that section had better take our advice, given often and often, and quit.

Mrs. Alberta Holcomb Meyers, of Irvine, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Holcomb, at this place. Mrs. Meyers enrolled on the Eagle list a year.

Joe Pendleton came down from Colly, talked awhile and told us he had bought a fine farm in the heart of the world, Scott county, Va., and would locate on it soon. Joe is a good citizen and we would regret very much to give him up.

A number of cases of typhoid are reported in the Caudill and Whiteo sections, most of them said to be light.

We still emphasize the fact that there is less moonshining going on than in a long time and drunkenness has decreased here at least 60 per cent. It is the duty of every good citizen to preach against it. In this way sentiment is moulded and no evil can live that is not backed up by sentiment.

That printing you need will be done neatly, completely and now. Let us have it.

Miss Amanda Gibson will take a few days business trip to Lexington, leaving today and returning next Tuesday.

Dangerous Leap

Dr. Gid Whitaker, a part of his family and another one or two came very near losing their lives a few days ago in an automobile accident. They were passing up the road above town and as the machine was stopped to allow another car to pass it skidded then rolled over and over a rough bank some 20 or 25 feet. The whole crew were badly shaken up and Homer Craft, a young man in the car, had his hand and arm badly mashed and cut. The car was damaged to the amount of several hundred dollars.

Officers Raid Again

Sheriff Tolliver, Clark Day and others, headed by Enforcement Officer John D. W. Collins, returned from a raiding trip along the Ky.-Va. border in the Cumberland section where they succeeded in destroying one large old-fashion moonshine still, hundreds of gallons of beer, several gallons of white liquor and everything else lying around and used in the business. Warm moonshine was running from the nose of the still when the boys walked upon it. Three men were arrested, but one made good his escape before arriving in town.

Statement of Hon. J. E. Childers, of Pikeville, Ky.

I wish to announce to the people of the Thirty-fifth Judicial District of Kentucky that I have been nominated for the office of Circuit Judge of this district, and my name will appear on the official ballots as a candidate on both the Democratic and Independent tickets. I feel that I should make this public statement to the voters of the district touching the principles and policies for which I stand.

Allow me to say in the very beginning that I do not think the race for the high office of Circuit Judge should be a political matter; the Judiciary of Kentucky should never be bound by political ties to any party; and the people should view it in a strictly independent light, and keep it independent and free from political nastiness. Only in this way can the honest rights of individuals be secured to them.

My honorable opponent and I are pretty well known to the people of the district, and our manner of holding court is equally well known, as each of us has presided over the district as its Judge for a term.

If I am elected as your Judge for the ensuing term, I will hold court according to the same standards, and in pretty much the same manner as I did before. If my opponent is elected, of course he will hold court in the same manner as he did heretofore. "The only way of judging the future is by the past."

I am perfectly willing to stand by my record, or fall by it. If the people are satisfied with my opponent, there is no reason for a change. But if, on the other hand, they believe I can render better service as their Judge, it is their plain duty to elect me. The people should use the same good business judgment in electing their officials as they would use in employing a man to work for them on their farm or in their store.

A public officer is merely a servant of the people. He receives his commission from the people; he is responsible to the people for his official conduct; and at the end of his term he must surrender his commission back to the people. He is in no sense their master. Sometimes an official becomes drunk with power delegated to him by the people, and uses such power to abuse and terrorize them. But such an official misconceives his duty and his relation to the people.

The cardinal principle of our Government, as expressed in the Declaration of Independence, is that all governments derive their powers from the consent of the governed. If the people are misled by the false utterances of the politicians—as they often are—and make a mistake in the selection of their officials, the people must suffer the consequences; it is a matter of no consequence to the politician; invariably he is actuated by personal motives, and has no regard for the welfare of the people.

A man, to be a Judge, should be free from all bias and prejudice—political, religious, or otherwise; the people's rights ought not to be judged according to his private views. The Legislature of Kentucky for more than a hundred years has been enacting laws, now recorded in the statute books, and the common-law has for centuries been perfecting itself and adapting itself to modern needs and conditions; the way to do justice between man and man is clearly marked out by these laws and the Judge who follows them will make no mistake. Unfortunately, there are too many Judges who disregard the laws and decide cases according to their private personal feelings and opinions.

A man who is cranky, impatient or irritable, or who cannot lay his personal opinions aside while on the bench, is not fit to be Judge. A Court is an umpire; he holds the scales; if he takes sides, he is morally disqualified. He must be fair, and broad enough, and patient enough, to view every angle of the controversy, and properly weigh every fact and circumstance; and patient enough to hear all; and shrewd enough, and courageous enough, to hold fast to the good and discard the bad, and to decide accordingly.

The law ought to be enforced in season and out of season—when a campaign is on, and when it is off. The Courts ought to be kept open for the service of the people alike in peace and in war. What is right before a campaign is right during a campaign. A man should not wilt and fear to do his duty just simply because an election is approaching. The people are after a man who will hold Court and attend the public business in all seasons. He is not paid to run his campaign, or to promote his re-election.

The organic law provides that every litigant shall be heard by himself and his counsel. I believe in hearing everything a litigant or his counsel has to present, and in treating each side with all due courtesy and consideration. If either side presents matter that is not pertinent to the case, the Court is not bound to accept it. The Court is not a Solomon; others may have some knowledge he does not possess.

A Judge should say nothing in the presence of a jury which would prejudice or influence its verdict, unless explicitly commanded or authorized by law to do so. The lawyers are supposed to do the practicing and to bring out the facts in each case.

Neither should a Court try to be Sheriff, County Judge, Chief of Police or detective. He has enough to do to discharge the duties of his own office. If he will attend to his own business and let other people's business alone, he will have more time in which to try the people's causes and to clean up the docket, now in this district much congested.

There should be no feud between the bar and the Court, or between the people and the Court. The bar and the public are naturally inclined to treat the Court with due respect, and they in turn have a perfect right to expect courtesy and consideration from the Court. Neither the lawyers nor the litigants want to feel when they come into Court that they are entering a prize ring, or appearing before Caesar on his throne; every litigant should be made to feel that he is receiving a square deal, and he will not be persecuted. Peace and good will should prevail in the court room.

I never had a "spat" with a lawyer or a litigant in my life. I never fined a man for contempt; I never sent a person to jail for contempt. And I submit to you that I transacted as much business, and transacted it as effectively, as any man who ever held court in your district in the same length of time.

If a witness is a little late who has been trying to save a little expense by staying at home the night before, and has walked through the mud five or six miles to obey the order of the Court, and gets in a little late, don't fine the poor man and send him to jail. He is an American citizen; he pays his taxes, and supports the country in times of peace and defends it in time of war. He has a good wife and children at home who will be disgraced if you send him to jail. Have a little of the milk of human kindness in your anatomy.

Sometimes—in fact, many times—the accumulations of a lifetime are at stake—all that a litigant possesses in the world, representing the sweat and toil of years and the security of the future—hangs in the balance; it then becomes the conscientious and lawful duty of the Court to act considerably, and be sure that he is in the right as nearly as is humanly possible to be before he takes from one man and gives to another; before he takes away a man's liberty, or casts a reflection upon his manhood or the good name of himself and his family.

No man should be cast in prison without a hearing, or without his defenses being fully presented in open court.

Not every man accused of crime is guilty, and the Court should hear the merits of every case where an individual's liberty is involved before he imposes punishment.

Those guilty of crime ought to be punished; every law in the statute book should be enforced, the prohibition laws and all other laws; the good people of this district are entitled to protection against violators of the law; their lives and property ought to be made secure by the strict enforcement of the law. But the law ought to be enforced in an orderly way, and every man accused ought to be given a fair trial.

It is not proper to put in all the time prosecuting one class of violations and ignoring all others and neglecting the civil docket. The big violators and the little violators ought to be accorded the same treatment.

A Republican Legislature, upon the recommendation of a Republican Governor, Mr. Morrow, at its 1920 session, enacted what is known as the Nonpartisan Judiciary act, taking the office of Circuit Judge out of politics. Under this law both parties may nominate the same candidate, and a candidate can run under as many devices as he desires, and all the votes cast for him on any ticket are counted for him. Pursuant to this law my name will appear on the Democratic ticket and on the Independent ticket, with my picture as the device.

It has always been the policy of the Federal Government to keep the Judiciary out of politics, and pursuant to that policy all Federal judges are appointed for life, or during good behavior.

In many of the states a Judicial candidate can not run under a party device, but must simply write his name on the official ballot. Kentucky, though rather belated, has removed the Judiciary from politics, and is attempting to remove the schools therefrom.

No greater reforms were ever inaugurated in this State. The people are entitled to the best service obtainable, and should not be hampered in either of these regards by the hypocrisy of politics.

God never made a better people than those of Pike and Letcher counties—in Boone's Trail and the Trail of the Lonesome Pine, and He placed them in the most favored spot in Kentucky; in pure air, pure water, and where lies the State's greatest resources.

I will be the last man to advertise the faults and weaknesses of these people or to create the impression abroad that they are a set of criminals and outlaws. I would rather minimize their shortcomings and extol their virtues. They are under no obligation to respect any man more than he respects them; they are under no obligation to feed the hand that smites them.

To these good people I submit my cause with malice and denunciation toward none, whether they be for me or against me, but with charity for all, and with a full determination to do the right, as God gives me the light to see the right.

Very truly,
J. E. CHILDERS.

To the Voters

As I have been a candidate for Sheriff of Letcher county for sometime, I feel that I should make a statement to the voters. I will continue a candidate for this office and will not quit the race under any circumstances. I respectfully ask the voters, men and women, to look up my qualifications and record as a man and give my claims consideration. I may not get to see all of you before election, but believe you will be able to find out about me from those who know me. I am willing for you to judge me by the past and cast your votes as you feel would be to your best interest. I am a hard-working man, a friend to labor, and will treat the people and the county fair in all matters. At this time I feel that my election is sure, but would warn my friends to keep busy and not stop until all the votes are cast and counted. I thank you all and guarantee to make you a real good satisfying Sheriff. Your friend.

EDITORIAL

The newspapers all over the land are telling us that the great crime-wave which struck this country a year or so ago and has held such sway since, is subsiding. Well, let us hope so. To sober, thinking people, to those who have attempted to follow the trend of current happenings in the press as well as otherwise it has been indeed shocking. Human life and human happiness have been the cheapest commodities extant. Robbery, pillage, plunder and murder have run ren-counter all over the land. That the days of Sodom and Gomorrah or later the dark ages when fiendishness and every other crime known in the catalogue of blood were upon us. Crimes unknown, undreamed of, have welled up in the minds of people and have been coolly perpetrated. Where the wave would end no philosopher has dared to intimate. That the curse of God was upon the world and that the dissolution of man and the end of time was imminent looked serenely and irrevocably sure. That our fair land, begotten under auspices so grand, baptized in the blood of patriots, so long, so tenaciously bound to conscientious principles and undoubtedly so near to God, was so swiftly rushing hell-bound, and, ripe to join the nations who forget Him. We believe that in 1917-18 the world was about capsized in crime. That God did not intend for it to end then is now evident. No one, Christian philosopher or sage, can approach knowing the purposes of the All-wise. But that His second coming is to be, maybe, soon, is one of the authenticated facts plainly taught in The Book. On this fact it is not our purpose or intent to write. The whole aim of this word is to emphasize the hope that people are coming to their senses; that God has not forsaken His creation but will smile upon them again. What a consummation! "Oh, for a closer walk with God, A calm and heavenly frame, A light to shine upon the way," so sang the heart of a cross-worn soldier a century ago. If all the people in the world would just stop, think and pray for one hour! Then the jasper walls of the New Jerusalem would ring with hallelujahs. But, locally speaking, is our county getting better? Is cursing, drinking, abominating and the like decreasing? Is sanity returning? Are people stopping and thinking? Till this is true, till every man who holds himself a man goes to doing this the sunlight of hope will still be obscured. All together, boys, all together!

Good churches, good schools and good roads march hand in hand. With these three great auxiliaries of civilization as a fact crime and violations of the law would decrease fifty per cent. In days gone by, and the rule may hold somewhat good now, it was the fellow far out on the heads of the creeks, far up among the solitary crags and peaks where the fox barked and bayed at the moon and the owl screamed, who made up his mind to have something stronger than that brewed from his native spring. Churches and schools and good roads were way off somewhere. He himself was lonesome and idle, and why not? The dawn of another day breaks up these. The music of the Sunday morning church bell, the little red school house near and the beautiful highway passing by puts a different spirit in him. Yes, the way to capture him is by bringing these things to him.

WAS FRANKLIN WRONG?

Ben Franklin said a great many wise things in his day. One of his sayings that has been widely quoted is, "A dollar saved is a dollar earned." But one of our depositors says this is not true, that Ben Franklin was all wrong. He says: "It is impossible to save all you earn. The average man earns $5 for every dollar he is able to lay aside. You might say that he has $4 expense to each dollar of profit. 'If then, it is necessary to earn $5 in order to save $1 don't you see that any plan that saves an extra dollar is as good as $5 earned? Or to bring Franklin's famous saying up to date we must say 'A dollar saved is five dollars earned.' What do you think about it?"

Rev. and Mrs. Scott, Misses Esteva Webb, Ruth Collins, Clara Holcomb, Lucy Ewen, Mrs. C.M. Bowen and others left for Jackson this morning to attend the district meeting of the Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian Church.

Candidates are said to be having a fine time speaking, chest-nutting, lying and seeing the people in the Linefork section this week.

We really want you to read the Eagle. It is not for what little profit there is in it for us but because we believe it will do you good. If we did not believe this it would not be printed. Thro' its editorial and news columns we like to talk to our people and they cannot hear us unless they read it. Men and women of Letcher, you of noble heritage and pure Saxon blood, hear us and get your names on our list.

Why, certainly brother, wind up that moonshining business now, and while quitting is good quit. You'd as well now as later for you're sure "gwine to hafter" or the badlums 'll git ye.

COUNTY JUDGE

To the Men and Women Voters of Letcher County:

I am an Independent Candidate for County Judge and a Man who believes in better Schools, more Churches and better citizens; a believer in a People's Government, People's Rights and Justice; an unbeliever in our County being governed by any individual Company, Ring or Clique; but by true loyal county citizens; a firm believer in good roads and county improvement; not to be for the benefit of a few, but should be decided by the citizens as to the best interest of the whole, and, for the progress of our county. I am an unbeliever in Free Labor for building and repairing roads, but all county prisoners should be worked on the county roads. I believe in the enforcement of our laws and Justice given to all. The law that convicts the beggar should convict the Millionaire. I believe in unity of men in all trades and professions and any man that does not believe in unity does not believe in his country. Why? Because without unity our States would be divided and we could not enjoy the feeling of unity and freedom. By our States being united, and, I believe that unless we, the Letcher County Voters, unite November 8, and elect clean, moral men, our county will continue in crime and injustice.

As to the low unprincipled statements being circulated in regard to my entering this race to assist one of my opponents to defeat the other, is without truth, and, should be classed as a very low and debasing falsehood, only to be used by men without intelligence and honor. My friends will stand behind me and defend me against such chatter. They know that I would not stoop low enough to enter this race for the interest of any individual, company or company official. I am in this race for the interest of every law-abiding citizen, and, if it is their will to elect me, and from all indications I feel that my opponents will not ride our county pie wagon, but can continue to peddle pills and look after personal matters.

I believe that every man who is seeking an office should be prepared to perform his duties of said office and other matters not pertaining to said office, should be left off. A laborer should be worthy of his hire. In conclusion VOTERS don't listen to every stale yarn, but reason with yourself and your friends. Ask your God to give you wisdom, and, vote where your heart dictates and not from a political standpoint.

Brother Miner, are you going to support a Brother Miner for your County Judge; this is your opportunity? Brother Farmer, are you going to support a man that stands for you and your County's welfare, and understands what the farmer needs and what you must have for success? Friend Operator, do you want, and believe in honesty and justice to your employees and Letcher County? If you do show it by supporting a clean moral man for your County Judge. Your support is kindly solicited.

Respectfully,

C. R. METTETAL.

Me-o-my,

how you'll take to a pipe—and P. A.!

Before you're a day older you want to let the idea slip under your hat that this is the open season to start something with a joy's jimmy pipe—and some Prince Albert!

Because, a pipe packed with Prince Albert satisfies a man as he was never satisfied before—and keeps him satisfied! And, you can prove it! Why—P. A.'s flavor and fragrance and coolness and its freedom from bite and parch (cut out by our exclusive patented process) are a revelation to the man who never could get acquainted with a pipe! P. A. has made a pipe a thing of joy to four men where one was smoked before!

Ever roll up a cigarette with Prince Albert? Man, man—but you've got a party coming your way! Talk about a cigarette smoke; we tell you it's a peach!

Prince Albert is sold in tippy red bags, tidy red tins, handsome pound and half pound tins, humidor and in the pound crystal glass humidor with sponge moistener top.

U. S. SHIP BOARD STARTS RATE WAR

American Merchant Marine Prepared to Fight for Egyptian Trade.

CHARGE IS BELOW BRITISH

Posting of Reduced Rates Follows Breaking Off of Negotiations Between Agents of Board and the English Lines.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Announcing that the American merchant marine was prepared to fight for cargoes of Egyptian cotton on a fair competitive basis, the shipping board has put into effect rates between the United States and Alexandria, ten shillings (normal value about $2.50) below those offered by the British shipping conference, which has hitherto controlled the business.

Break With British.

Posting of the reduced rates followed the breaking off of negotiations between representatives of the board and of the British lines. In a formal statement explaining its action, the board declared the compromise offered by the British was unacceptable because it awarded only 50 per cent of the "savings" from Alexandria and made no reference to any proportion of "the cotton" and, further, because existing contracts between the British lines and an Alexandria shipping organization gave the former undisputed advantages over their competitors.

Comments on "Bids."

The statement also commented on the awarding of these contracts to the British after "competitive" bidding in which the American offer was materially lower. Now bids were sought without the board being informed, it was declared, and when the British lines lowered their charges to the shipping board figure the contract was awarded to them.

The troubled fortunes of the American merchant marine were the subject of a long consultation between President Harding and his cabinet.

The whole question of rehabilitating the merchant carrier industries was considered in all of its domestic and international aspects, but there was no indication that the discussion reached a point of definite decision as to policy. Whether new legislation will be sought or new trade agreements with foreign countries consummated remain uncertain.

To Discuss Wooden Ships.

An exhaustive report by Chairman Lasker of the shipping board covering particularly the important sections of the Jones shipping act is understood to have furnished much of the material for the cabinet's deliberations.

EX-CLERGYMAN HELD GUILTY

John A. Spencer Convicted in California—Charge Is Drowning Wife.

Lakeport, Cal., Oct. 10.—John A. Spencer, former clergyman, was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a superior court jury in connection with the death of his wife, whose body was recovered from Clear Lake, near here, July 27. The jury was out nearly six hours. Recommendation that Spencer be sentenced to life imprisonment was made. The defense's failure to call to the stand either Spencer or Mrs. E. D. Barber, alleged accessory to the murder, came as a surprise. In his closing argument District Attorney Hoyle of Sonoma county leveled a finger at Spencer, sitting pale and rigid, and declared the former clergyman "deliberately drowned his wife so as to get her property and obtain freedom to wed another woman."

Agree to Italy as Mediator. Budapest, Oct. 10.—The Italian, British and French representatives here have notified the Hungarian government that they agree to Italian mediation in the Hungarian controversy. The Italians immediately invited Count Stefan Bethlen, the Hungarian premier, and former Foreign Minister Banffy to Venice for a conference, the date of which has not been fixed.

THOROUGHbred INTERESTS ATTACKED

Helm Bruce, Former Attorney for St. Louis Bucket Shop Syndicate Seeks to Destroy Racing

REPEAL OF THE PRESENT LAW MEANS THE RETURN OF THE BANISHED BOOK MAKERS TO KENTUCKY

The Kentucky Jockey Club Pays Over $300,000 Yearly In Taxes Into the State Treasury.

(The Thoroughbred Record.)

Kentucky is the home of the thoroughbred. It is the nursery of the finest breed of horses the world has produced. An infusion of thoroughbred blood enriches every other strain and gives quality, speed and courage to the colder breeds. Hundreds of thousands of acres are devoted to the raising of thoroughbreds in this State, and millions of dollars are invested in the industry.

At the coming session of the Legislature an organized effort will be made to destroy the thoroughbred interest, lay waste the fertile pastures, now valued at from $500 to $1,000 an acre, upon which they graze, and reduce the peerless Man O'War, for whom $500,000 has been refused, to the worth of a plow horse.

Under the old book-making system which Mr. Bruce sought to perpetuate for his clients, the State did not receive a dollar; under the present law the Kentucky Jockey Club pays yearly into the State Treasury over $300,000. If Mr. Bruce succeeds in destroying the thoroughbred interest, this immense sum will be entirely lost to the State and the book-makers will return to prey on the public.

The leaders of this destructive crusade, falsely put forth as a moral issue, is Helm Bruce, a Louisville lawyer, who, nursing a personal grievance, and in grateful remembrance of his former race track clients, Cella, Tilles and Adler, the St. Louis bucket shop gamblers, seeks to prohibit all racing in Kentucky. When the Racing Commission was created by an act of the Legislature and the turf in this State was taken out of the hands of the book-makers who had dishonored a royal sport, Helm Bruce, took a fee from this syndicate of bucket shop owners and sought to have the law declared unconstitutional. He was defeated in his selfish purpose and now that the scandal breeding book-maker has been driven out, and the turf is prospering under the pari-mutuel system, with the leading horsemen of Kentucky, selected by the Governor, giving their time to the enforcement of the law, Mr. Bruce seeks to destroy the entire turf structure and carry with it the whole thoroughbred interests of Kentucky.

Desha Brockbridge, editor of the Lexington Herald, has defended racing, as now conducted under the State Commission, in a series of frank and forceful editorials he has exposed the inconsistency of Helm Bruce, once an attorney for the book-makers, and now advocating the destruction of the pari-mutuels which would open the way for the return of Mr. Bruce's former clients to Kentucky.

Mr. Bruce pleads ignorance of the character of his clients or their selfish interest in the following statement to Mr. Brockbridge:

"A number of statements are made as to my knowing that certain alleged conditions in connection with racing formerly existed, such as that race tracks were controlled by bookmakers, and that bookmakers retained twenty per cent, and that all sorts of rascalleries were committed under this system. The fact is I know none of these things."

It is said that I know that Cella, Tilles, and Adler, of St. Louis, owned Latonia and Douglas Park, and it is said they ran bucket shops and race tracks in various sections of the country. I recall that Cella had an interest in the Douglas Park Jockey Club, whether or not the other persons mentioned had any interest in it or not, I do not know, and whether or not they ran bucket shops in other parts of the country, I do not know. It is said that I know these things because I was an attorney in a suit instituted against the State Racing Commission seeking to have the act creating that Commission declared unconstitutional. It is entirely true that I was an attorney for the Douglas Park Jockey Club in a suit brought to test the constitutionality of that act, but it is not at all true that I learned in that case, or otherwise, any of the facts stated in the editorial as to gambling conditions on the race tracks.

Mr. Brockbridge makes the following reply:

"Mr. Bruce knew that Cella, Tilles and Adler, who ran bucketshops and race tracks in various sections of the country, controlled Latonia and Douglas Park; that there was a syndicate books on all the tracks controlled by them; that racing in Kentucky was in a deplorable condition; that the meetings were long, and under the syndicate system of bookmaking every sort of rascality was committed."

Mr. Bruce states: "I knew none of these things."

"We avow that all statements made by us are true; that all intelligent men connected with racing or interested in racing knew them to be true; that the facts were published in the daily newspapers, and that in the discussion in regard to the enactment of the bill creating the State Racing Commission were alleged and not denied. But we accept at its face value Mr. Bruce's statement: 'I know none of these things.'"

"Mr. Bruce does recall that Cella had an interest in the Douglas Park Jockey Club. It is interesting to know that this much of what was general knowledge percolated through the atmosphere of sweet innocence that surrounded Mr. Bruce. If he had then had the slightest interest in the preservation of racing, either as a sport or as an aid to the breeding of horses or as a destructive agency of all that is good and noble, it seems to our mundane intelligence he would have informed himself as to the controlling factors in racing and certainly as to the personnel of his clients."

It has been a long time since the State Racing Commission was created and the effort made by the owners of Douglas Park and Latonia—Cella, Tilles and Adler—to have that act declared unconstitutional. Mr. Bruce makes a very plausible statement of the basis of that suit, but a statement that in our opinion is entirely misleading.

Rochester Woman Tells Experience

"I suffered for ten years from nervous indigestion. I had no appetite and always felt miserable. I was in such a serious condition I thought my time for this world was getting short. My food didn't seem to nourish me at all and I weighed only 85 lbs."

"After taking Tanlac, I now weigh 108 and am gaining every day. Oh! there is such a wonderful change now. My appetite is splendid. I have plenty of strength and feel better than I have in years. I wouldn't take $1000 for what Tanlac did for me."

The above statement was made by Mrs. Clara Lehman, Bristol Hotel, Rochester, N.Y.

Having nothing to do puts plenty of people into meanness. However, we are glad to say that there has not been a day power, which was never done before its creation.

Mr. Bruce may not know it, but we believe it to be a fact that the chief reason his known client, Cella and his actual clients, Cella's associates, wanted the act declared unconstitutional was that it made possible the destruction of their syndicate book.

We do not say that Mr. Bruce knows it, because after his statement we fear to state that he knows even the most widely known fact, but according to the grand jury of Jefferson County it is a fact "that a vast number of handbooks are being operated in the city of Louisville."

We have not heard of any movement by Mr. Bruce to stop these handbooks.

If Mr. Bruce had succeeded in the suit to declare unconstitutional the act creating the State Racing Commission there would be books on the race tracks as well as handbooks in the city. The law now prohibits handbooks in the city. But they exist in the city of Louisville. Yet Mr. Bruce starts a campaign against "legalized betting" and so far as we know takes no action against the illegal betting that is, in our opinion, infinitely the greater evil, which is rampant in his own home town.

In the communication published this morning, Mr. Bruce says:

"I have never pretended to make any accurate statement of what are the total profits of the Jockey Club, because I do not know them."

In a statement by him sent through the Associated Press from Louisville September 17, he says:

"A legalized giant monopoly enjoying the gambling privileges realizes a profit of two or three million of dollars a year out of this demoralizing vice."

Again we apologize for having stated in a previous editorial that Mr. Bruce knows this statement is inaccurate. But we avow that it is inaccurate and utterly misleading and known to be inaccurate by every man and woman who has even cursory information in regard to the purses and stakes given by the Jockey Club, the expenses incident to the conduct of racing and the taxes paid by the Jockey Club.

Mr. Bruce closes his communication with this statement:

"Pari-mutuel betting on the race tracks may be a safer form of betting than bookmaking—safer for the gambler—but I am not interested in protecting the gambler."

Who is it Mr. Bruce is interested in protecting? As a lawyer he was interested in forwarding the interests of Cella, Tilles and Adler, who, though of course he never knew it, conducted bucket-shops and syndicate books. The present movement fanned by him will inure to the benefit of the bookmaker and handbook men, though equally of course he does not know this. As proven by the result in New York, the success of the movement he advocates will lead to a form of gambling that is most pernicious and as a rule crooked.

As revealed by the report of the grand jury in Louisville, the handbooks flourish even in the rarified atmosphere that surrounds Mr. Bruce.

Not interested in protecting the gambler? Of course not. Not interested in the personnel of his clients who employed his services to destroy the State Racing Commission so that they might run race tracks in Kentucky as they ran them in Missouri—solely for the benefit of the syndicate book? Not interested in protecting the breeding interests? What is Mr. Bruce's real interest?

His letter reveals, according to his own statements, that Mr. Bruce has never been interested enough to ascertain even the most widely known facts in regard to racing and that he knows no more about it now than he knew when he was the attorney for Douglas Park and the bucket-shop bookmaking aggregation that owned it.

Why is Mr. Bruce giving his time and his high ability and great reputation and his money to this fight to have repealed the provision in the Kentucky statutes that was passed April 8th, 1893, years before he appeared as the attorney for the Douglas Park Jockey Club? He did not then attempt to have that section of the statutes repealed. The act creating the State Racing Commission was passed in 1906. The provision under which pari-mutuels are permitted was passed in 1893, thirteen years before that. During those years the bookmakers operated as un molested on the race tracks as they now operate in Louisville and will again operate on the race tracks if Mr. Bruce succeeds in his present efforts.

Every man familiar with racing knows that racing has been cleaner and on a higher plane; that the stakes and purses are four or five hundred per cent greater since the bookmakers were driven from the tracks. But Mr. Bruce is not interested in protecting the gamblers' nor the horsemen nor the breeders nor the financial interests of the State, nor in driving out the handbooks in Louisville.

"Provided," That a refusal of the commission to grant any racing association a license or to assign any racing association at least forty days, if desired, shall be subject to the review of the courts of the State."

But Cella, Tilles and Adler were not satisfied with this provision. They wanted the whole act declared unconstitutional, so that act—though it may not be known to Mr. Bruce, who knows so little, as revealed in his communication today—provides:

"Said commission shall have the power to prescribe the rules, regulations and conditions under which running races shall be conducted in this State."

Under that provision the State Racing Commission has the power to prohibit bookmaking on its tracks and it has exercised and enforced that here when whoever wanted a job and would do honest, faithful work couldn't get one.
